

FACES OF LODO

Adena Mansback
SugarCube Lofts

Meet Adena Mansback, General Manager and lead Concierge at the SugarCube Lofts in Lodo. SugarCube is a very high-end, full service apartment building at the corner of 16th and Blake Streets. Adena is charged with making sure the residents are happy! It is not a hard job, she says, since everything in LoDo is so close!

Urban Villages recently built the new SugarCube building, creating Denver's most sophisticated rental lofts. Residents appreciate the contemporary architecture and exceptional services, especially when combined with the historic character of LoDo. Living at SugarCube is high style in an urban village.

Adena enjoys it when people walk by on the street or drop in for a building tour. "People are taken by the contemporary look and feel of the building exterior," she says. "Once inside, they usually smile in appreciation of the timeless beauty of the interior finishes. It's a beautiful building to see, and to work in!"

Denver seems to have grown up as a city. Adena comments that prospective residents from Denver and elsewhere have an expectation for a high level of quality in their rental housing options. "It's like in the days of the Brown Palace," she says. "People are drawn to quality and to beautiful architecture and finishes."
