

FACES OF LODO

BRANDON ENGEL MARKET CENTRAL

As the nursery rhyme says, 'Home again, home again, jiggety jig'. But, much more than just a market to buy a fat pig, Market Central is a fabulous neighborhood grocery store that offers fresh local produce, deli items, a meat and fresh seafood department, prepared foods as well as many necessary everyday household staples. Situated on LoDo's eastern edge amidst some other fun and funky stores and restaurants, Market Central is super clean and comfortable. Brandon Engel, owner and chef, is passionate about quality and customer service. "We provide services to satisfy the demands of modern life, where one has little time to shop and prep, much less cook and eat, but without compromising any quality."

A true family adventure, Brandon and his wife Christa are enthusiastic about their new store, a dream of theirs for years. "Everyone working at Market Central is a foodie; we figure we have a combined 50 years of restaurant and food experience between us." Brandon now creates delectable comfort foods to go or eat in. And, on top of all the sweet offerings, Market Central features a variety of specialty drinks, with wine and beer hopefully arriving soon. Some other goodies include dry-aged beef, imported cheeses, artisan breads, pasta, and exotic spices.

MARKET CENTRAL IS LOCATED AT 2046 LARIMER STREET, AND IS A NEW MEMBER OF THE LODO DISTRICT.
