

FACES OF LODO

LONNY BREWER

Mmm...Mmm...Metropolitan Mudd.

Urban chic meets country comfort in an eclectic space that mixes one part coffee shop, one part antique store, and one part retail gift boutique, all served with a side of charm. After years of buying “consistently bad coffee”, co-owners and siblings Lonny Brewer and JoLinda Wilson decided to get into the business themselves. After opening their first shop in Loveland, the pair opened the LoDo location of Metropolitan Mudd in the fall of 2004. “I definitely wanted to be in LoDo because there’s a great energy”, says Brewer, who also lives in a loft in the ‘hood.

The pair knew that they could create an inviting, unique store, and LoDo’s mix of businesses and residents makes it the ideal location. With high-end antiques artfully arranged around comfy chairs and sofas, free WiFi, and drinks ranging from the classic cappuccino to yerba maté and the ultimate liquid dessert, the “Icy Puddle” -- iced espresso blended with cake and flavoring – this appealing little shop with the pig on the sign is sure to please even the most discriminating palate.

Metropolitan Mudd Coffee Company is located at 1516 Wazee Street, and is a proud member of the LoDo District.
